Guardians of Democracy Program Description

Developed in partnership between the Lou Frey Institute at the University of Central Florida and IllinoisCivics.org, the Guardians of Democracy Program is an online professional development program with extended learning opportunities for interested 6-12 educators. Our goal is to support a national professional development program and establish a network of certified educators across disciplines that embrace the proven practices of civic education to empower young people for college, career and civic life success.

The course series provides instruction on (1) strategies for current and controversial issue discussions in the classroom, (2) the role of simulations of democratic processes in the classroom, and (3) informed action through service learning. This program is hosted and administered through Free for Teachers Canvas, an open learning management system.

The Guardians of Democracy Bronze Certified Educator in Simulations of Democratic Processes Badge recognizes the successful completion of all Simulations of Democratic Processes course modules. This includes the completion of required assignments, portfolio entries and satisfactory performance in the discussions. Participants create a Portfolio of Practice throughout the course in which they reflect on how the course content can enhance their own practice. Participants use their portfolio to create a plan of action to implement one strategy to support a simulation of a democratic process in a summative performance task.

Course Objectives

• Module 1: Orientation

- Participants identify the objectives and expectations of the course and are aware of the important role educators play in preparing young people to be guardians of democracy.
- Participants engage in an anticipatory set of activities to reflect on their own lived experiences related to simulations of democratic processes.
- Participants discuss the opportunities and challenges of simulations of democratic processes.

• Module 2: What and Why

- Participants examine the research behind simulations of democratic processes.
- Participants analyze the characteristics of high-quality simulations of democratic processes.
- Participants cite the opportunities and challenges of engaging students in simulations of democratic processes.
- Participants analyze the components of a reflective classroom that supports simulations of democratic processes and discuss findings with their peers.

• Module 3: How

- Participants will review the separation of powers between the three branches of government and identify opportunities to simulate democratic processes in each branch.
- Participants understand the relationship between a simulation of democratic process and the development of student outcomes related to civic dispositions, skills, and knowledge.
- Participants analyze three classroom strategies to engage students in simulations of democratic processes, comparing and contrasting the classroom outcomes, classroom set-up, and protocol for each.
- Participants reflect on their own practice and discuss with peers which simulation of democratic processes would best enhance their classroom.

• Module 4: So, Why Not?

- Participants identify potential obstacles in the implementation of simulations of democratic processes.
- Participants examine and utilize strategies and resources to overcome the identified obstacles related to simulations of democratic processes.
- Participants analyze concerns related to the use of role playing in the context of simulations of democratic values.
- Participants will reflect on their lived experiences, perspectives, and course content related to the use of simulations of democratic processes and identify best practice to implement in their classroom

• Module 5: Next Steps

- Participants plan and prepare for implementing a simulation of a democratic processes in their classroom using the strategies and reflections they have gathered in their portfolio.
- Participants provide feedback to their peers' plans to implement a democratic simulation in the classroom.
- Participants complete a culminating survey reflecting on their professional growth in the course.
- Participants explore opportunities for deeper learning through further badging.

The Guardians of Democracy Silver Distinguished Educator in Simulations of Democratic Processes Badge recognizes the successful completion of extension work in a second course to demonstrate competency in teaching two of the strategies included in the Simulations of Democratic Processes course. This badge certifies that a recipient can successfully create, edit and implement a lesson plan and facilitate student reflection on the process. This badge also certifies that a participant engaged in an instructional coaching cycle and reflective practice.

The Guardians of Democracy Gold Guardian Educator in Simulations of Democratic Processes Badge recognizes the successful completion of advanced extension work in a final course demonstrating competency in teaching all three strategies included in the Simulations of Democratic Processes course. This badge certifies that a recipient can successfully create, edit and implement a lesson plan and facilitate student reflection on the process. It further certifies successful engagement in collaborative practices through peer-to-peer mentorship and facilitator coaching of the lesson planning process.

Discussions

A discussion board is used to discuss and reflect upon the various topics presented in each module. Discussion prompts with specific guidelines and due dates are provided for each module. Participants are expected to submit an original post (response to the discussion prompt) by the deadline and substantive responses (more than yes, no, or I agree) by the end of the following week. Please adhere to the expectations outlined in the Discussion Board Rubric when submitting original posts and responses.
